

CARTOONING FOR PEACE

“Cartoons make us laugh. Without them, our lives would be much sadder. But they are no laughing matter: They have the power to inform, and also to offend.”

KOFI ANNAN, NOBEL PEACE PRIZE AT THE SYMPOSIUM
“UNLEARNING INTOLERANCE”
NEW YORK, OCTOBER 16, 2006

Kofi Annan, Nobel Peace Prize and former Secretary General of the UN, and Plantu, French editorial cartoonist at "Le Monde" newspaper, gathered together twelve of the greatest international cartoonists at the United Nations Headquarters in New York on October 16, 2006, at a symposium entitled "Unlearning Intolerance."

The CARTOONING FOR PEACE / DESSINS POUR LA PAIX, initiative started with this meeting. It aims to promote a better understanding and mutual respect between people of different cultures and beliefs using editorial cartoons as a universal language.

Since its beginning in 2006, Cartooning for Peace has organized several exhibitions of cartoons and press conferences on freedom of expression.

CARTOONING FOR PEACE facilitates meetings of professional cartoonists of all nationalities with a wide audience, to promote exchanges on freedom of expression and recognition of the journalistic work of cartoonists.

CARTOONING FOR PEACE also provides protection and legal assistance to cartoonists working in difficult environments, as well as advice and support in the exercise of their profession. ●

“Even if art breaks the ban ... respectful disrespect is necessary.” Plantu
